

COFECE notifies Economic Agents of a Statement of Probable Responsibility for a possible collusion in the taxi transportation service from and to Mexico City's International Airport

- The Investigative Authority considers the existence of enough elements to assume that economic agents have engaged in absolute monopolistic practices within the investigated market.
- The case will continue as a trial-like procedure in which Economic Agents will be able to answer COFECE's allegations.

Mexico City, May 2nd, 2016. - The Mexican Federal Economic Competition Commission (COFECE) notified several economic agents of a Statement of Probable Responsibility for their alleged participation in absolute monopolistic practices within the market of passenger transportation services through taxis from and to Mexico City's International Airport (AICM).

The notification establishes the initiation of the case's trial-like procedure stage, which will be conducted by the Commission's Technical Secretariat. This, since the Investigative Authority concluded its ex-officio inquiry process, initiated on July 3rd 2014, and has now issued a Statement of Probable Responsibility throughout it details the elements that have allowed it to suggest that certain competing Economic Agents may have participated in an absolute monopolistic practice.

Pursuant to the Federal Economic Competition Law (FECL), absolute monopolistic practices consist of contracts, agreements, arrangements or combinations amongst competing Economic Agents, which have as their purpose or effect to fix prices, restrict supply, and allocate markets, rig bids and exchange information with one of these purposes or effects.

During the trial-like procedure, the corresponding economic agents have the right to argue in their favor and submit evidence related to the allegations presented against them.

COFECE's Board of Commissioners shall issue a resolution once all defense arguments are heard, evidence is analyzed and allegations are brought forth.

- 000 -

MORE COMPETITION FOR A STRONGER MEXICO

The Federal Economic Competition Commission is entrusted with safeguarding competition and free market access. Through these, it contributes to consumer welfare and the efficient functioning of the markets. Through its work it seeks better conditions for consumers, greater output and better services and a "level playing field" for companies.

