Andrea Marván Saltiel, new commissioner of Cofece

Mexico City, December 13, 2022.- Andrea Marván Saltiel took office this afternoon as commissioner of the Federal Economic Competition Commission (Cofece) for a nine-year term, after being ratified this afternoon by the Plenum of the Senate of the Republic.

Andrea Marván Saltiel was proposed by the head of the Federal Executive, after passing the knowledge exam applied by the Evaluation Committee, provided for in Article 28 of the Political Constitution of the United Mexican States. With her ratification, the Board of Commissioners of Cofece is strengthened by having five positions filled out of a total of seven.

The new commissioner holds a degree in Law from the Universidad Iberoamericana and a master's degree in the same subject from the University of Chicago. Marván Saltiel is also a professor at the Tecnológico de Monterrey, Santa Fe campus. In addition, she has ten years of professional experience at Cofece, where until today, she served as general director of Competition Advocacy. The Board of Commissioners and those of us who work in Cofece congratulate and wish every success to commissioner Andrea Marván Saltiel; we are convinced that she will make important contributions to the benefit of competition and free market access.

MORE COMPETITION FOR A STRONGER MEXICO

The Federal Economic Competition Commission safeguards competition and free market access.

Through its work, it seeks better conditions for consumers, that more services are supplied with higher quality and that there is a “level-playing-field” for companies
